Come join us and meet other students like YOU. Coming back to school is a hard decision to make, and we want to help each other do this successfully.

If you find yourself wondering:
- What did I get myself into?
- How do I balance work, school, and life?
- Who can I talk to about all of this?

We are here for you!

Are YOU a Non-Trad Student at Washburn University?

There is a student organization just for you!

What’s a NonTradAsaurus?

A dinosaur? Really?

The adult learners who revived this student organization selected this mascot as a comical way to describe how they sometimes feel on campus. One of our students stated: “What better way to get to know people than by poking a little fun at ourselves and acknowledging how we feel?” In essence, they are acknowledging this perception and proving it wrong.

---

If you are...
- A student who delayed enrollment in college (not directly from high school)
- 20 years or older
- A student with family/dependents for whom you are responsible
- Working full-time while enrolled
- A part-time student
- A student who came to college with a GED or other certificate of completion

...then YOU are a non-traditional student.

Who are we?
- We are a small group of non-traditional students (sometimes called Adult Learners) who want to make the transition to college as seamless as possible for other non-trads. We want to build a network of students who work together to make the college experience successful for you and your circumstances.

What do we offer?
- We hope to offer support and motivation for other students in our situation. We operate in a social setting more than an official organizational setting. We want to have a little fun, and create an atmosphere of camaraderie and encouragement.
