Why KU Test Prep?

Washburn University and KU Test Prep can help you realize your graduate school goals with classes designed by current and former test writers with years of experience. KU Test Prep instructors are committed to guiding you and answering all of your questions so that you know exactly what to expect when you sit down for your test, helping to relieve your uncertainty and giving you added confidence.

The LSAT Test Prep course is available in a traditional face-to-face format or through our live online option. The course provides 30 hours of instruction, with comprehensive review of:

- Critical reasoning
- Reading comprehension
- Analytical reasoning
- Logic concepts
- LSAT writing samples

Students will be given the opportunity to practice test taking by using actual LSAT questions from former tests. The review course also includes homework activities designed to give the course students opportunities to supplement their in-class instruction.
