

Edward Keating, P.E., MBA
Lean Six Sigma Green Belt

Ed Keating has over 35 years of experience in manufacturing as an engineer and a manager. Ed is an electrical engineer with professional licenses in Kansas and Indiana. He received his BSEE from Kansas University and his MBA from Washburn University. Ed has a diverse work background, having been employed by a major automotive company, a corrugated box plant and a pet food manufacturer. He has also done consulting work for other, smaller organizations. Ed is currently developing an advanced industrial controls curriculum for Washburn Institute of Technology.