Organizations of all types are increasingly challenged to be lean. But this is not just about efficiency of time and money, it is also about effectiveness. A Lean Organization is one that is customer focused and creates value for customers while using fewer resources, and thus is relevant to organizations of all types; from manufacturing to education to services. This two day professional development program offers an intensive, highly interactive learning opportunity that introduces key concepts and applications for a Lean Organization. Simulations and hands on applications using lean tools and methods to address day to day problems makes this learning experience relevant and actionable to guide you in making major improvements to your work environment. Learn how you can do more for your customers while using fewer resources.

Dates/Time: October 23-24, 2014 from 8:15a.m. to 4:45p.m.

Cost: $645 for registrations received by October 9. Discounts are available for multiple registrations from the same organization. Course fee includes materials, refreshments, and lunch for both days.

Facilitators:
Doug Von Feldt      Ed Keating, MBA
Lean Six Sigma: Master Black Belt   Lean Six Sigma: Black Belt
Certified Project Management Professional  Professional Engineer

For more information and to register, visit the Washburn University Center for Organizational Excellence web site: www.washburn.edu/coe or call (785) 670-1399.