HERRICK FACULTY AWARD FOR OUTSTANDING SERVICE

This award is given in recognition of outstanding service by faculty and librarians of the university with regard to the candidate’s service to a profession, a discipline, the university, or the public.

The criteria for the Herrick Faculty Award for Outstanding Service are as follows:

1. Outstanding service to the university extending over a period of at least five years which has resulted in greater effectiveness, efficiency, and/or visibility of the university or department as a result of the individual’s efforts.

2. Exceptional service to a profession or discipline of such character as to have had a substantial impact on the ways the organization(s) serve and promote members’ activities and interests.

3. Outstanding service of a comprehensive nature which demonstrates uncommon achievement in several areas and which reflects both a breadth of involvement and a depth of commitment to the broader missions and interests of the university and its public constituents.
