Enrollment Report
Fall 2020

Strategic Analysis & Reporting

October 11, 2020

The Fall 2020 Enrollment Report provides information about headcount and student credit hour enrollment for Washburn University (Washburn) and Washburn University Institute of Technology (Washburn Tech), based on each campus's 20th day census snapshot. Appendix A (pp. 19) provides fall headcount enrollment for the six public four-year Kansas institutions, the community colleges, and technical schools.

Tables 1, 5, 6, 9, 11, and 12, as well as Appendix A, and Graphs 1 and 2 (pp. 7-8, 12-14, 17, 19-20, 28) either provide headcount and credit hour comparisons between Fall 2018 and Fall 2019 or describe the characteristics of Fall 2019 students. Tables 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, and 10 (pp. 9-11, 15-16, 19) provide longitudinal trends documenting headcount and credit hour changes.

Supplementary Tables 1, 2, 5-7 (pp. 21-22, 25-27) provide snapshot data between 2010 and 2020, while Tables 3 and 4 (pp. 23-24) provide data between 2010 and 2020, documenting headcount and credit hour changes for each of the types of students – defined in the main body below -- who enroll at Washburn and their demographic and academic characteristics as of the 20th day snapshot. Supplementary Table 8 (pp. 29) documents how the number of credit hours at each college or school – in lower and upper division courses as well as graduate courses – have changed between 2010 and 2020.

Ten Year Trends

This section provides ten-year trends (2011-2020) for headcount populations and credit hour generation.

Washburn University’s Overall Headcount and Credit Hours

Figures 1 and 2 document changes in Washburn’s enrollment for the past ten years (2011-2020) for total headcount and credit hour enrollment when including and excluding high school students.

Undergraduate Level

Washburn's undergraduate level is composed of first-time freshmen, incoming transfer students, returning undergraduates (i.e., students who were enrolled, stopped out for a semester – excluding summer -- or more, and re-enrolled), and continuing undergraduates. All first-time freshmen, new transfer students, and returning students immediately become continuing undergraduates upon successful registration in the next semester. This section provides ten years of headcount trend information. For more information about each population's demographic and academic characteristics, please refer to Supplementary Tables 1-4 (pp. 21-24).

First-time Freshmen

First-time freshmen are composed of students who matriculate to Washburn directly out of high school and students who take a year or more off of their formal education between high school graduation and their postsecondary matriculation to Washburn (other first-time freshmen).

Supplementary Table 1 shows how these groups have changed since 2010. First-time freshmen who matriculate directly out of high school have decreased 10.1% since 2010.

The other type of first-time freshmen – who averaged 22.76 years of age in Fall 2020 – has declined 78.1% since 2010. See Supplementary Table 1 for the demographic and academic characteristics of these students.

Undergraduate Transfer Students

There have been dramatic year-over-year variations in the number of transfer students coming to Washburn. Overall, since 2010, the incoming transfer student population has decreased 28.2%, or 182 students. Supplementary Table 2 shows how undergraduate transfer students have changed since 2010.

Returning Students

Supplementary Table 3 shows how returning undergraduate students have changed since 2010. Overall, these students have declined 57.0% since 2010.

Continuing Undergraduate Students

The size of any current continuing undergraduate student population is dependent on two factors: (1) the size of the previous semesters' incoming classes (i.e., first-time freshmen and transfers) as well as the size of the returning and continuing student populations and (2) those classes' return rates. Supplementary Table 4 shows how the continuing undergraduate population has changed since 2010.

Overall, the size of the continuing student population has declined 21.6%, or 802 students, since Fall 2010.

Graduate Level

Graduate students are composed of first-time graduate students and continuing (or new transfer) graduate students. Supplementary Table 5 shows how these populations have changed since 2010.

The number of first-time graduate students has increased since 2010. Since then, the first-time graduate student population has increased by 101 students, and credit hour production has increased by 860 credit hours.

The continuing and transferring-in graduate headcount has decreased by 43 students since Fall 2010, an 12.1% decrease.

Law School

Washburn Law School is composed of first-time law students, new transfer law students, and continuing law students. Supplementary Table 6 shows how these populations have changed since 2010.

First-time law students have declined 35.3% since Fall 2010; however, the headcount has been between 84 and 90 each fall semester since 2016.

Continuing and transferring law students have decreased 28.5% since 2010; however, these numbers have varied only slightly (i.e., between 216 and 223) since Fall 2016.

Non-Degree-Seeking Students

Non-degree-seeking students include high school students enrolled for Washburn credit as well as undergraduate and graduate students who are enrolled in credit hours but who are not pursuing a degree. Supplementary Table 7 shows how these populations have changed since 2010.

High school students have grown dramatically since 2010 when 488 high school students were enrolled. In Fall 2020, Washburn enrolled over one and a half times that number: 833 students. Since high school students began enrolling in higher numbers in Fall 2010, Washburn's high school population has grown 70.7%, from 488 students to 833 as of Fall 2020.

The graduate non-degree headcount has declined slightly in the last ten years. In Fall 2010, 15 students were enrolled, and in Fall 2020, 1 student was enrolled. The peak was 24 students in Fall 2012.

Credit Hours by College/School

Supplementary Table 8 tracks credit hours generated by each college/school at Washburn since 2010.

Overall, Washburn's credit hours have decreased 10.1% since 2015. When excluding credit hours produced by high school students, Washburn's credit hours have decreased 15.4%.

Since Fall 2010, the following colleges/schools have increased credit hours production:

- School of Nursing (25.8%)
- VPAA/Other (51.8%)

The following colleges/schools have decreased credit hours production:

- College of Arts & Sciences (-25.8%)
- School of Applied Studies (-13.0%)
- School of Business (-17.2%)
- School of Law (-34.7%)

Credit hour production decreased at the following course levels:

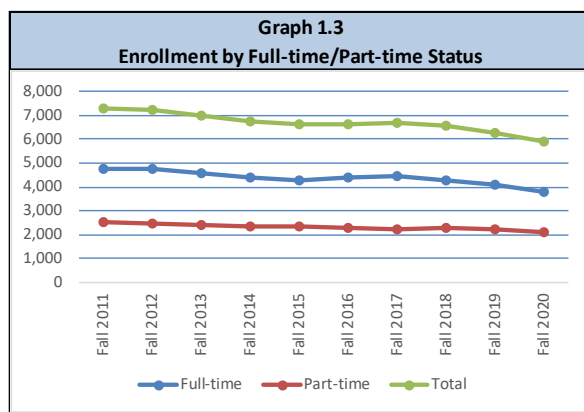

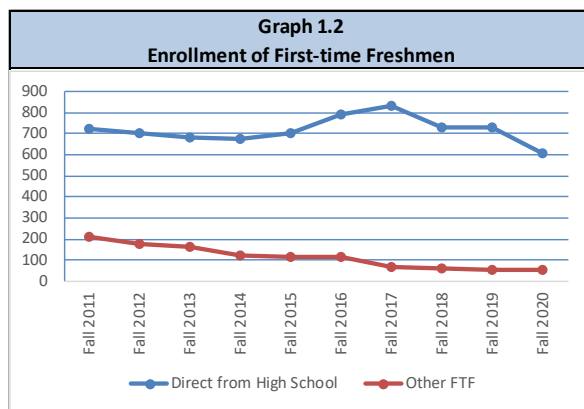

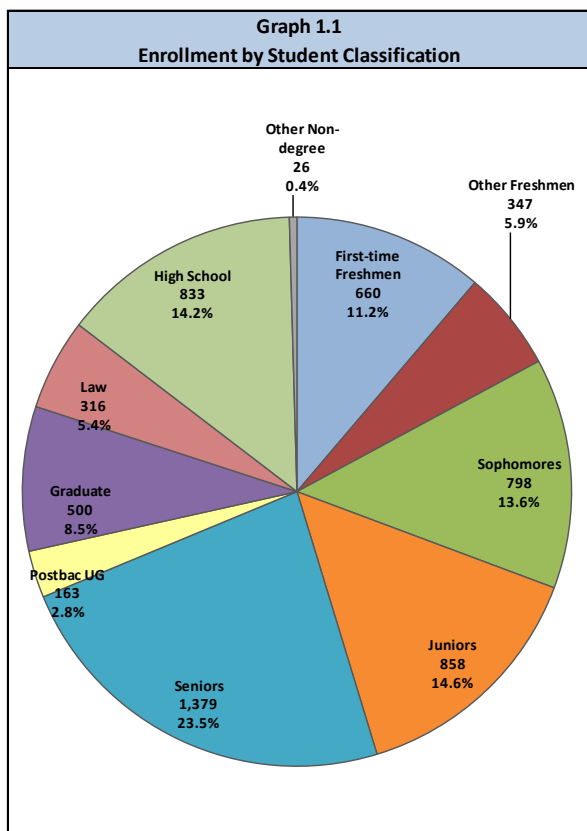

- Lower Division courses (-18.9%)
 - When excluding high school students, there is negative growth (-11.8%)
- Upper Division courses (-8.6%)
- Graduate and Law (-18.2%)
