To the Washburn community,

In our previous message, I noted this would be a quiet period for the presidential search so my update is brief. This week, I spoke with our search firm, WittKieffer. They let me know the search is going well. There is a lot of interest and conversations about the position. The application period is open until October 27 and they expect a number of applications to be submitted in these next few weeks. The search committee will review applicants shortly thereafter and will begin the first round of interviews.

WittKieffer will answer questions about the search via this email: washburnpresident@wittkieffer.com.

Today marks the first week of Marshall Meek serving as interim president. He is doing a great job and we look forward to his update at our regularly scheduled board meeting on October 20.

Thank you to everyone for your dedication during this transition.

Washburn Board of Regents
