

Graduating with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing, Alaina's future career plans include working at the Stormont Vail Spine Center. She has been involved in a leadership role at Washburn by serving as Vice President for Christians in Action. She has held other leadership roles through her employment as a CNA at Lakeside Terrace, where she has had the responsibility of training new hires, as well as training and mentoring new hires while she milked at the dairy Rokey Road Holsteins. Alaina has been involved in community service through a mission trip to Uganda to serve at a Christian school, volunteered at Gateway Woods, a campus for children needing security and guidance, distributed food with Harvesters, and volunteered for a nursing home re-shingling project. She engages with her church community by planning and participating in various events and volunteer opportunities, as well as singing with the choir. A personal interest of Alaina's is pottery, which she continues to teach herself with the goal of starting her own pottery business!
