Forensic Biology Bachelor of Science in Forensic Biology

interests

MAJOR MAP

MAJOR MA	IST YEAR	2ND YEAR	3RD YEAR	4TH OR FINAL YEAR	WHERE
COURSES TO TAKE	BI 102, BI 103, CH 151, CH 152, EN 101, WU 101, CJ 115, and a General Education course.	CH 341, CH 342, CH 343,	BI 353, BI 354, PS 261, PS 262, EN 300, CH 350, CH 351, CH 323, and a General Education course.	BI 390, BI 395, BI 420, CJ 410, CJ 415, and CJ 416. Take three upper division Biology elective courses.	The forensic biology degree can provide a path toward many
RELEVANT EXPERIENCE	Become a member of the Forensic Sciences Club	Become a tutor or an SI for the Biology Department; in- formation available in Stoffer Hall, room 202	Apply for a WTE to fund research and work on a relevant research project Apply for internships offered at local agencies such as the KBI, Johnson County's Sherriff's Office, and/or national agencies such as the FBI Honors Interns	Share your research findings at a conference such as Apeiron	 careers and post-graduate opportunities, including: Forensic biologist at a local, state, federal, or private laboratory
BUILD YOUR NETWORK	Attend National Forensic Sciences Week and meet professionals in the forensics field	Attend National Forensic Sciences Week and meet professionals in the forensics field	Create a Linkedin profile to establish and maintain career building connections	Attend a regional forensics conference such as the Midwestern Association of Forensic Scientists annual meeting	 Research scientist Graduate school for a MS or PhD Medical or pharmacy school
GLOBAL THINKING				Consider attending an international forensics conference or workshop such as the International Society for Forensics Genetics
POST-GRAD PREPARATION	Meet with your academic advisor at least once each semester to discuss your progress and pick classes best suited to your career	Become familiar with the job requirements and disqualifiers for opportunities of interes	Create a resume and get constructive feedback on it from Washburn Career Services	Apply for post-graduate opportunities	VISIT www.washburn.edu

www.washburn.edu FOR MORE INFORMATION

$-----