

My name is Larissa Zermiani Hoffmann Bassanesi and I am from Brazil, I am a junior getting a bachelor of science in biochemistry. On my first semester at Washburn I was really shy and had trouble communicating with others but thanks to the international department I am able to be part of PAIS now so I can help other students to be more confident and be their best selves. I really like to do radical sports like skydiving and rappel. My advice is not to be afraid to ask for help and enjoy everything you can on campus.
