IX. Public Forum II:

- a. Interacting with State Legislators, Rep. Simmons
  - i. This is so cool! I don't know what you guys know. Rep. Simmons is here because she is a state representative and used to be president for her student government. She is very glad we are in student government as it is relevant to the world. She graduated in 2018 with a degree in Political Science and then she moved to Washington to get her Masters. She learned about it from the Womens study program. She loved Washburn and once she got to D.C she felt very prepared. When she left meetings in the beginning she felt like it shouldn't feel like that. If you want to be in government you need to have a thick skull. For fun she used to get half priced burgers at a stand and if she was over 21 she would get craft beer. If anyone goes into her office to tell their opinion what should the first step be?

1. Chairperson Ross: Shake their hand
  2. That is actually wrong. You want to be friendly with the front desk people. Her assistant Chris is an amazing person. If you make a good first impression the Legislator will hear about it. You then charm the pants off the Legislator. You need to be friendly. Some think you need to be abrasive in politics but you need to be passionate about what you are talking about so they do not become defensive.
- ii. You want to go talk about why Washburn needs an investment for the library and there are things the state can pay for. The state then tells you no. How do you feel?
1. Director Redington: Bad.
- iii. You have to stay composed and ask about why they are against it. They say they don't have the money. Ask when they might have it. They might see you later and remember the request. This starts the conversation for the next time you meet. This creates authenticity.
- iv. You need to be professional. She had a TikTok account and she saw videos about professional outfits to wear to an interview. The way you present yourself is important. In the real world it's important if you present yourself sharp and professional. There is no expectation to go out and buy a new suit. You can even go to thrift stores.
1. Director Newfer: Talk about how WSGA has helped people.
- v. She doesn't have the numbers but she believes a significant number used to be in student government. They talk a lot about young people civic engagement. No matter where you end up if you can work with people you disagree with you will be a great addition. They will be nice to you. What you do after you leave the capital make sure to leave an email in order to network. Legislators eat up that fact that the younger generation cares. It doesn't matter what your major is it is more important to get in contact.

- vi. Chairperson Ross: For a professor's opinion if a student was missing for Higher Ed day how would you feel?
  - 1. If they wrote about it I would give them extra credit.
- vii. Director Redington: What would be your thought on the best way to approach them in the elevator.
  - 1. Just smile. They love it when people in the elevator join in on jokes. She met someone in the elevator and it sparked a conversation. People remember the small conversation. Just be friendly the world is a weird place.
- viii. Senator McGill: What is the typical rejection on Higher Ed?
  - 1. Simmons had a 6 hour debate while at work today. Had 20 amendments as well so she explains that she is not at 100 percent today. Can you ask the question again? The answer is money. People need more money than you can give them. Higher education is not very important to people compared to other things. There are a lot of people running currently and a lot of them hold power in the state legislature. If it's a campaign year, you want to think about whose support you need. Higher Education is not at the top of the list of things they allocate money towards. The economy is down and therefore they need to cut a lot. Not everyone will be that honest with you. Follow along with things impacting Higher Education. The Tenure Bill is controversial as it retains professors that need to be let go. You will need to be asked about that. Quality of professors will be diminished. What can you do? Submit testimonies because your voice matters.

- ix. Brugardt: Asking about legislators campaigning and wanting opinions. How would she recommend staying on track since there isn't anything specific they are asking for.
  - 1. If you are asked a question about something you don't know just say you don't know. If someone asks you about tenure and you do not care as you are there for something else redirect the conversation to the things that are important to you.
- x. Director Hammes: Are they more excited to see people from their own districts. Do you have any students that you wish you could have coached before they talked to legislators?
  - 1. She finds it quite endearing. There was a late legislator once and he spent the entire meeting talking about himself. She didn't know how to help or react. Everyone looked around and one student redirected to get back on track. The legislator then left. Don't worry too much about that they know why you are there. So be excited about why you are there.
- xi. Key Takeaway: Be confident. You are visiting you legislator. If you feel scared know you have every right to be there!

X. Public Forum III:

- a. Higher Education Day, VP Clark and Director Newfer
  - i. VP Clark and Director Newfer talk about Higher Education Day!
  - ii. Higher Education Day is happening next week. If you would like to volunteer, you will be asked to talk with legislators and talk about your experiences in higher education.
  - iii. The Kansas Board of Regents (KBOR) oversees higher education in Kansas. The Student Advisory Committee (SAC) is the President and VP of the 6 state schools in Kansas. This committee works on coordinating Higher Ed Day!

- iv. What are we doing? We are going to the Capitol to talk to legislators. These folks provide millions of dollars of funding to all of the schools in Kansas. If people do not talk about the importance of this funding, then we risk the funding being taken away. (THIS IS BAD!) If we go and talk to legislators and tell them our stories and advocate, then we help to solidify the place of that funding.
- v. General Guidance: They want to hear about YOU! Talk to them about how important it is that they continue this funding. Be respectful. Present yourself and your story in a positive light. Make them want to give you money!
- vi. The QR code that is moving throughout the room is how you sign up to attend. If you stay for more than 3 hours, we will provide you lunch. There are 1 hour time slots, but the meetings you are attending should only last 15-20 minutes. There are about 12 legislators confirmed to meet with! Be there! This does count as an office hour 😊
- vii. Brungardt: Any advocacy at the Capitol is awesome! Advocate for the things that you believe in! You can always write a letter and represent yourself!
- viii. Ross: Can we play the background music?
- ix. Senator Smith: How do you expect us to convince legislators that already agree with our cause?
  - 1. KBOR has recommended the budget that is lower than last year. There is some political pressure there. There is not really a threat of them cutting all funding entirely. Being there is still important!!!
  - 2. Director Ginn: We are also there for them to see us. No, if they are already supportive, we won't do a whole lot. But this shows that we are present, engaged, and want to stand up for something. Regardless, we are impacted. Things happen in Capitols when people are seen and heard.

- x. Senator Smith: Which legislators are the most important for us to talk to and how?
  - 1. VP Clark: We can't really do that. Kate, Taylor and Lillian attended a training about how best to approach this. We are not there to convince anyone. This logic is faulty. Don't use the one pager. We aren't there to change people's minds—we are there to share our stories. Don't try to frame it in another way. Just share your story.
  - 2. President Coulter: We know who we are meeting with. We are actually meeting people. We can have a more directed conversation about how this will operate based on who signs up and where they fit and fill in gaps best. We will feel it out! This is a great advocacy opportunity. You can connect with lots of folks.
- xi. Director Ginn: This is a great advocacy opportunity! 😊 There are a good number of people that will be going. Can we establish carpooling? Don't let not having a ride be a barrier to your attendance
- xii. Director Redington: Lillian and Taylor will be at a table and they will be sharing information. People will be there and there will be meeting points. You are not going in blind!

XI. New Business III:

- a. SB #138: Funding Process Reform Act
  - i. Neutral status from Allocations Committee
  - ii. Senator Lloyd: This would allow the Allocations Committee to be the ones determining the result of a funding request. I am proposing this because we have students present twice in one night; sharing the same information. Frankly, this is a waste of their time and sometimes ours. To those in the gallery that want to serve other students, just like us, they have better things to be doing with their time. Forcing students to attend senate and committee when they are trying to achieve the same goals as us doesn't make sense.

iii. Chairperson Brungardt: Thank you for writing this piece of legislation. I echo the sentiment about wanting to use student time most effectively. I would like to share some of my own findings, however. The highlighted area and strikethroughs, you will notice, are not the only changes that are being proposed here. This removes the burden of funding requests to be bills. They would no longer be pieces of legislation.

1. Lloyd: The only reason why things are not highlighted is because this is completely new next as opposed to the modification or changes being made to current text.

iv. Brungardt: There are some words being taken out of the funding policy in point C and down. There are portions of the funding policy that are now missing, and that is not being properly recognized. In our By-Laws, it says that the student government has the final say over any expenditures. We have the right to see that information on a weekly basis, as opposed to only when Allocations finds something contentious. This would keep the faith in us and our organization.

v. Senator Anderson: I have been here for 4 years and I understand that we are bureaucratic. Sometimes we have to take a long time in that process. We should restructure how well we use our time, but there is definitely a purpose behind viewing those pieces of legislation in senate. We do want to be mindful about the time of others. But perhaps this piece of legislation is not the most effective means of doing so. Students do become frustrated when they have to speak to senate for a long time. I am all for changing the agenda structure, but I still want legislation to see the senate floor.

vi. Lloyd: Allocations is allotted a certain amount of money and they are allowed to utilize that funding for student orgs in whatever way they deem fit. I reviewed the way that WSGA has operated in years past and we are not doing anything. WSGA should have time to review other important things—not just funding requests. We have been held up and seen as an appropriations committee, and this was not the original intent of the organization. We should be here for those that want to do more. This is a good first step, and this is a step that senate should take.

- vii. Vicechairperson McGill: I agree with the sentiment behind the bill, and I would like to share my support of the cause. What I have seen in the last semester is the way that allocations reviews these pieces of legislation. These are conversations that we are not having in senate, they are only being held in committee. Senator Lloyd pointed out that the meeting minutes from ALL meetings are public. We are just having them discuss the same things twice and there is rarely ever discussion in senate. This is a poor interaction with a lot of the bills that we are seeing. I trust Chairperson Brungardt's interpretation of the funding policies. We talk about this a lot in allocations, and I would trust this committee to do this. If there are issues with the by-laws that would prevent this, then I would urge us to make sure we comply with those documents first.
- viii. Senator Yucsan: We never reject funding requests on the floor. Allocations does a good job of filtering out those requests that are not in compliance. While we do appreciate the ritual of hearing from the students, it is not respectful of their time or ours. Please do take that into consideration. There may be another way for this to be done. We could still review them in senate, but it would not be required for the representative to attend.
- ix. Parliamentarian Sharp: I think that there are good points on both sides. The main intention is to preserve student time. Kendall brings up a good point that it is helpful to see all of this information in senate. Apollo has a good plan when he says that we wouldn't have to have the representative attend senate but should attend the allocations meeting.
- x. Director Kerney: We don't have people filling out open senate seat applications because we have a negative impression across the student body. We want to be known for things other than just saying yes to every funding request that we see.

- xi. Chairperson Brungardt: Apollo, you are right! We agree that there are students here for too long, but we should work on rehashing the solution that we are talking about. I saw an earlier version of the bill and there were conversations about how this would work. This is something where we should all try to agree and work together and think about the solution to the problem. We agree on the problem, but we should talk about the procedure and the way we go about solving it.
- xii. Senator Smith: I would like to show my support for this bill. The only issue that I see with the By-Laws is the definition of WSGA. This is more a problem with something else. The only reason we would ever reject something is if it is not inline with our funding policy. We should be more aspirational in our ability to make changes to our policy and to our organization. I also want people to be able to make announcements at the end of our meetings.
- xiii. Director Newfer: I am in agreement with Senator Smith. If allocations is the entity in charge of the funding policy. Using this logic, we would have to question whether or not we actually have the authority, as a senate, to refuse the findings of the allocations committee or to deny a request that allocations has not denied. If we have a committee that is specifically tasked with maintaining adherence to this specific policy, then why do we need to hear this information twice.
- xiv. VP Clark: Kendall was talking about specific parts of the by-laws. Article I, Section III – Allocations is responsible for certain things. This authority is one that internal finance does have, but allocations does not have. This is where the contradiction lies.
- xv. Senator Smith: If we can say that legislation and funding requests are synomous, then there would be no reason to disapprove this bill.

- xvi. Senator Anderson: Love the convo! I am still confused about the fact that we have this contradiction here. To be frank, I think that we should table this until next week. As much as I love this, I think that we could reform all of the way that we structure senate. We have to change so many things in order to truly be more efficient.
- xvii. Senator Lloyd: I would encourage that we do not table this and that we pass it this week. Change is good and we should do it.
- xviii. Chairperson Ross: I think that we table = we kick the can down the road. Deny the tabling motion.
- xix. Motion to table does fail.
- xx. Director Hammes: I am in favor of the intention of this bill. I would like to share with others that we can deny or approve this bill tonight and change it later. If we table it, then we have to see the exact same bill again later.
- xxi. President Coulter: If we give this bill status, do we have to completely restructure the way that senate is?
  - 1. Lloyd: Senate will continue as is, but we will not see funding requests unless the bill is particularly contentious or consensus is not achieved.
  - 2. Thanks, I just wanted a temp check
- xxii. Lloyd: If there is under 50% agreement, then the bill fails. If there is less than 2/3, then the bill would go to senate. If the bill passes, then we do not have to approve the bill through senate.
- xxiii. We have moved to previous question. This closes debate on the bill. We are now required to vote.
- xxiv. The bill fails.

THEREFORE, BE IT ENACTED BY THE WSGA SENATE:

SECTION ONE: Purpose

1. The purpose of this legislation is to reform the funding policy in a way that simplifies the process for the Allocations Committee while making it easier and more accessible for students to request funding, ensuring that student activity fee funds are used efficiently to benefit as many students as possible.

SECTION TWO: New Funding Policy Revisions

1. Chapter 4 of the Funding Policy will be amended to say:
  - b. The Budget Director shall deliver the paperwork to the Allocations Committee Chairperson, who will present it in the form of a bill to the next Allocations Committee and Full Senate Meetings, unless consent is granted by the requesting organization to delay the process.
  - c. The Committee will then vote to approve or deny the request for funds. A 2/3 majority is required to approve the request. If a 2/3 majority cannot be met, the Organization has the right to appeal to the full senate on that same day. The Senate will then hear the request and a simple majority is all that is needed to approve the request.
    1. A representative from the requesting organization will be required to attend to speak on the request in the Allocations Committee meeting following their request submission. Organizations will be notified of the date and time of the Allocations Committee meeting to attend by the Budget Director in the week prior to the meeting they are required to attend. This representative cannot be a sworn-in member of the WSGA. This representative will have the right to appeal the request to the next senate they can attend.
  2. For each organization that is approved, the Allocations Chairperson will give a report in full Senate on how much was approved. For questions relating to funding requests given favorable status in the Allocations Committee, the Chairperson is able to speak on behalf of the requesting organization. Senators reserve the right to ask the Budget Director for any documents relating to the request, provided that the private information of the requesting organizations be withheld.
